

97 The Ten Commandments

Collected by Cecil J. Sharp

From "One Hundred English Folk Songs" 1916

Moderato

FIRST VOICE SECOND VOICE FIRST VOICE

Come and I will sing to you. What will you sing to me? I will sing you one - e - ry two - e - ry
etc., etc.

6 SECOND VOICE 1. 1st Verse
FIRST VOICE D.C.

What is your one - e - ry? One and One is all a - lone and ev - er - more shall be__ so two - e - ry?
etc., etc.

12 2. 2nd Verse
FIRST VOICE

Two and two are li - ly - white babes a - cloth - ed all in green, O!

16

One and One is all a - lone and ev - er - more shall be__ so.

20 2. 3rd Verse
FIRST VOICE

Three of them are thi - vers, And two and two are li - ly - white babes a - etc.

24 2. 4th Verse
FIRST VOICE

Four are the gos - pel ma - kers. Three of them are thril - vers, And two and two are etc.

29 2. 12th Verse
FIRST VOICE

Twelve are the twelve A - pos - tles. E - lev - en and e - le - ven are the keys of heav - en, And ten are the ten com - mand - ments. Nine are the nine that bright - ly shine, And eight are the eight com - man - ders. Sev-en are the sev-en stars in the sky, And six are the six broad wait-ers. Five are the flam-boys un - der the boat, And four are the gos - pel maa - kers. Three of them are thri - vers, And two and two are li - ly-white babes a - cloth-ed all in green, O! One andOne is all a - lone, and ev - er - more shall be__ so.

33

37

41

46

51