

Copyright EFDSS Vaughan Williams Memorial Library

Mrs Marina Russell, Upwey coll. HED Hammond

Nobleman & Maid

♩ = 100

Transcribed from HAM-02-236.gif – Hammond's field notes

[page numbered with, printed in top right corner:] 31

[left of title:] 525 [right of title:] Mrs Russell of Upwey

[left of first stave, bracketed:] Dorian Aeolian ??

[at end of last stave:] Words D VI p 120

[below last stave:] cp. tunes 373 & 388 [unclear]

Assuming that the amendments in the verso leaf are not from Mrs Russell, the words below are as they might have been from her, based on HAM-01-558
D792 Russell.

One evening her master came to her
A-playing & talking with glee
Many rich presents he gave her
'Oh! come pretty Nancy, love me.'

Oh! master, I should wonder much at you
A man that is aged & grey
To have such long desire
A poor innocent maid to betray

Oh! Nancy you can go to your mammy
That now lives in fair Glo'stershire
And if your baby you murder
There's no-one will know it, my dear

Oh! Master, I wont trust you nor love you
Nor no other man in this place
What matter one night to lie by me
You'll bring me to shame and disgrace

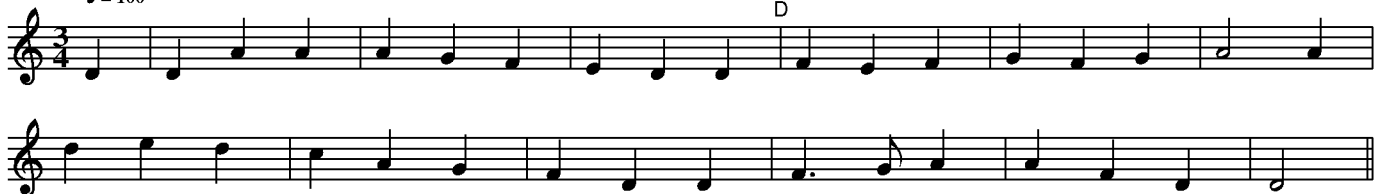

When he found that he could not delude her
Oh straight to the Church they did go
He made her a nobleman's Lady

5000 a year she enjoy

Mrs Marina Russell, Upwey coll. HED Hammond

Nobleman's Lady

♩ = 100

[left of title:] 528 [on label below and right of title:] D792

[right of label:] Mrs Russell, Upwey [initialled below and after end of tune:] FEP

Transcribed from HAM-05-063.gif – Purslow's transcription

Created under Ubuntu Linux by PJHeadford